The comparison

Check	Cyprus Bakeries	50 Best Bakeries	Result
A1 HTTPS and certificate	Valid certificate from Let's Encrypt, issued 1 Nov 2026, expires 30 Jan 2027.	Valid certificate from Let's Encrypt, issued 10 Oct 2026, expires 8 Jan 2027.	Similar Both sites use HTTPS with a valid certificate.
A3 One request, closely	/cyprus: GET, 200 OK, text/html, gzip. 21 requests, 609 kB transferred, 1.4 MB of resources, finished in 7.33 s.	Home page: GET, 200 OK, served by Vercel. 97 requests, 6,756 kB transferred, 16,448 kB of resources, finished in 13.33 s (DOMContentLoaded at 952 ms).	Cyprus Bakeries Far lighter: about 11 times less data and 21 requests against 97. The 50 Best page also loads advert frames.
A4 A page that does not exist	404 Not Found. A bare white page ("That's an error… That's all we know") with no menu, search box or way back.	404 Not Found. The page keeps the site header with the search box, Sign In and menu, under a large "Page Not Found" heading.	50 Best Bakeries A visitor can search again from the same page.
B2 Empty state	Searched "ll;". The page says "Sorry! We did not find anything matching your criteria!" in a pink box, but suggests no next step.	Typed "vb v" into the header search. My screenshot shows no results list and no "nothing found" message.	Cyprus Bakeries It at least tells the visitor that nothing was found (on the screenshots I captured).
B3 Error state (offline)	Edge's own page: "Looks like you're not connected to the internet", a Troubleshoot button and a link to a game. No message from the site.	Chrome's own page: "This site can't be reached… DNS address could not be found", with a Reload button. No message from the site.	Similar Both rely on the browser's page; neither site explains the problem itself.

What Cyprus Bakeries could learn from 50 Best Bakeries

1	Its 404 page keeps the site header, search box and menu, so a visitor who follows a broken link can search again straight away, whereas Cyprus Bakeries leaves them on a bare white message with nowhere to go (A4).
2	Its header search box shows a clear prompt, “Search bakeries, cities, countries…”, on the pages I captured, whereas the Cyprus Bakeries header box is an empty white field with only a magnifier icon, so a visitor cannot tell what to type (A3, A4, B2).
3	Its accessibility scores are slightly higher (90 and 91 against 85 and 90), and Cyprus Bakeries could close that gap by naming its icon-only buttons and links and by fixing the colour contrast that Lighthouse flagged on both of its pages (B7).

How to read this comparison

- Different browsers. Cyprus Bakeries was audited in Edge and 50 Best Bakeries in Chrome, so error pages and layouts differ slightly.
- Not always the same page. A3 compares /cyprus with the 50 Best home page, and B7 uses the Greece country page and a bakery page. Each screenshot shows its page address.
- One run each. Every measurement was taken once, so small gaps (for example 90 against 91) should not be over-read.
